

Why Choose American Red Cross Training?

The American Red Cross has been involved in nursing since 1888 and formally established the Red Cross Nursing Service in 1909, so who better to help launch your nurse assistant career than the organization that has been at the forefront of nursing services for well over a century.

With Red Cross training, you will master practical, academic and social skills necessary to be a successful nurse assistant. As a Red Cross nurse assistant, you'll be an important part of a healthcare team that works together to provide compassionate care for nursing home residents and patients. It's a job where you can make a difference.

The Six Principles of Care

Practicing the American Red Cross principles help nurse assistants focus on giving safe, effective and concerned care to meet the individual needs of each patient.

- Safety
- Dignity
- Independence
- Communication
- Infection Control
- Privacy
